

NRail Commercialism Statement

NRail publishes a newsletter every other month and has done so for many years. Paid advertising was never a part of the newsletter. The purpose of the newsletter has been and continues to be acting as a communications vehicle for getting information to N scale modelers focusing on modular model railroading. The intent of the newsletter is to promote shows, and other events at which N scale modules are present, promote clubs that build and operate N scale modules, inform readers of methods for building, wiring, scenicing and enhancing operations of modules and sharing knowledge about modules between module owners, groups and operators. The intent has been to increase communications, not to compete with commercial publications, be they specific to N scale or general model railroading, electronic or print.

The NRail Newsletter has been fortunate enough to continue operating as the society communications vehicle without the need for paid advertising. At the same time, we want to provide new product announcements and product reviews when the product is submitted to NTRAK for review. Therefore, it will continue to be the policy of NRail not to accept paid advertising and not to print supplier provided advertisements. NRail will announce new products and print reviews of products as is deemed appropriate.
